

DISCLAIMER

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Blair Rubber Company provides written and verbal information, which we have gathered from multiple sources relative to rubber lining materials. However, such information is offered as a guide only; and therefore, Blair does not assume any liability, whatsoever, in regard to the use of this information. The user of this information must determine the suitability of this information.

Since the application of technical information supplied by Blair may be affected dramatically by many factors such as weather, skill of technician and synergistic effects, to name but a few, the enclosed should be used only as a guide. Blair, accordingly, disclaims liability for damages, resulting from reliance on the information supplied herein except as noted in our standard product warranty.